Shootin' Blanks

By Pauliste

The season for weddings has passed, but there are still some head strong youths going ahead with plans of their own away.

Only the day before yesterday I was talking with a Glades father-in-law to be trying to steady him and offer a few comforting words. BOY'S RAINBOW RANCH IS FLORIDA BOYS TOWN

Ten miles south of Palatka on the west bank of the beautiful St. Johns River, a great man's dream of a Florida state "Boys Town" has become a reality. Homer Rodeheaver, who gained international fame as the late Billy Sunday's song leader, co-partner, Harry Westbury, has dedicated 320 fertile acres for the establishment of The Rainbow Ranch for Boys.

On the occasion of the final Board of Directors Meeting before the arrival of the first boys, Mr. Rodeheaver said, "We hope eventually to take care of 200 or more boys. They will be given a high school education, and we're going to teach them how to farm."

At that time, a Massey-Harris 30 horsepower farm tractor was given to the Ranch by the Florida Farm Equipment Company of Jacksonville, State distributor of Massey-Harris Farm Equipment. Mr. C. J. Hatch, Vice-President and General Manager of the Company, presented the tractor to Mr. Rodeheaver.

Mr. Rodeheaver further explained, "We intend to teach the boys every phase of agriculture. They will raise cattle, poultry and their own garden. We are going to have facilities for teaching them many crafts including printing, woodworking and mechanics."

When he presented the tractor, Mr. Hatch said, "We consider it a privilege to be able to help in such important work. We intend to do everything we can to see that the boys have the equipment they need to learn scientific Florida farming."

The stated purpose of the Rainbow Ranch is "to provide a place where unwanted boys are wanted, where security and faith and understanding will be given to boys who previously have known only failure, rebuff and cruelty. The Rainbow Ranch for Boys provides an opportunity for underprivileged boys and is not a penal institution, nor is it under State jurisdiction."

The first dormitory is complete, and the first boys will arrive in a week or two. Further construction and land development are underway. Ro-

Cesar's Weed is Nature's International Hitch-Hiker.

Cesar's Weed, which abounds in the woods of Highlands, Hammock State Park, near Sebring, and Hillsborough, River State Park, near Zephyrhills, is Nature's number one international hitch-hiker and long distant runner from "in-law" troubles in the plant world.

This miniature weed really did some fancy hitch-hiking because it came to Florida from the East Indies where its bark is used as a fiber.

As a traveling burr it hitchhikes on a squirrel's tail, a deer's hair, a bird's wing, or what have you. It does not matter much to the seed just to get a free ride, for many plant seeds believe in setting up housekeeping far away from the parent—no "in-law" troubles for them—they want to be strictly on their own and try to get as far away as possible.

Although the small pink flowers closely resemble the hibiscus, the plant is really not a hibiscus, since its seeds do not resemble those of the hibiscus. These seeds are covered with soft hooks that make it burr out of the seed even though a soft one.

And did some early explorer bring it to Florida on his clothes? The answer is partially "yes," along with every other traveling thing into which Caesar's Weed could attach its hooks for a hitch or two.

SOC. SECURITY REPORTS ARE DUE THIS MONTH

Social Security reports for July, August, and September are due this month. Employers covered by the law have until the last of October to submit those reports, according to R. C. Gehring, Jr., West Palm Beach. "These reports must go to the Collector of Internal Revenue in Jacksonville, Florida, and not to our office," he said.

Some workers are still losing credits towards Social Security retirement and death benefits, Mr. Gehring pointed out. This happens every time an employer's earnings are reported without his Social Security number. No one receives credit for those earnings, because they cannot be posted by name alone.

Two new groups now under Social Security are domestic servants in private homes, and farm wage hands. A servant is not to be reported by Social Security unless she worked for the same household in some part of twenty-four different days during the July through September period. In addition, she must have made at least $50 cash wages.

Farm wage hands must meet a wage-time test too before being reported. Further information on both of these newly covered classes may be obtained from the Social Security office at 501 North Olive Avenue in West Palm Beach.

The name of CARE (Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe, Inc.) was given a permanent place in Vienna, Austria, when the city bestowed it on a new municipal nursery and kindergarten.

TELEPHONE SERVICE IS GROWING, TOO

...and the price is up far less than most things you buy!

SINCE this little fellow was born—in just five years—the number of local telephones Floridians can call has more than doubled. And Southern Bell expects to spend about $20,000,000 this year to expand and improve telephone service for this fast-growing state.

BEST OF ALL, look at the modest price you pay for this bigger, better "package" of service! During ten years of rising prices it has gone up less than a fourth as much as prices in general... and less than our cost of providing the service.

ALWAYS one of our biggest bargains, telephone service today an even better buy than it was ten years ago, and a smaller part of your family budget—Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

UNITED NATIONS TRYING TO BOOST FOOD YIELDS FOR A HUNGRY WORLD

Two-thirds of the people on earth do not have enough of the right kinds of food. This is a surprising fact, since twice as many people are engaged in agriculture as in all other occupations combined. But, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations is planning definite moves to correct this situation.

This is the time to pay homage to the men and nations of the United Nations. October 24 is the sixth birthday of that organization and is a day to be celebrated throughout the world.

Since the perennial want of food is one of the basic causes of war, farmers through FAO are making every effort to remove this cause of future wars. There is still much to be done.

Just a year or two ago crop surpluses were a major agricultural problem in this country. People were condemning farmers for over-production. Yet now there is over-production when so many millions of people in the world are hungry? Isn't the problem one of distribution? And proper world distribution can best be accomplished through an organization such as the United Nations.

In addition to sending surpluses from areas of agricultural plenty to areas of famine, FAO plans to give financial assistance to improve crop production in backward districts in an effort to help feed the world's increasing population. Plans are also afoot to establish strong agricultural extension services for farmers in all areas of the world and to foster co-operatives and the stimulation of trading by and between co-operatives as a part of international trade.

By cooperating with these and future plans of the United Nations, farmers can provide immeasurable assistance in preventing the scourge of war.

KOREAN FARMER GETS IDEA FOR 2-HANDED PLOW FROM 4-H BOY

Florida boys who have had training in the 4-H clubs can't get away from improved farming, even though they have graduated from 4-H into GI. Says W. W. Brown, boys' club adviser with the Agricultural Extension Service.

As a 4-H member in St. Johns

County some years ago, Ralph Voss did work good enough to win a trip to the Danforth leadership camp, placed the third highest prize 4-H boy can win.

Ralph is now a private with American forces in Korea. In a recent letter to Mr. Brown he recounted the following incident.

"There is a small farm across the track from our railroad station. Recently I watched a Korean farmer plowing there with an ox, using a wooden plow with a single straight handle. It looked awful hard to hold on to and guide the ox, too. He was having a heck of a time.

"I went over to him and after about an hour of crum language and what little Korean I know, and drawing on the ground, I showed him what our plow back in the States looks like, with two handles. I showed him how the two handles work crooks in the end to use for grips, would be much better than a single straight handle. He said he would try it. I meant and thanked me.

"Three days later he came over to the station and asked me to come with him. I went and to my surprise there were about 10 or 12 other Korean men gathered around a newly finished plow just like I had explained to him. I patted him on the back and asked him if it was any good. He said, 'I plow number 1 and Korean plow number 10'."

FLA'S FREEDOM CRUSADE QUOTA GOES OVER TOP

Harold Cole, Florida State director of the Crusade for Freedom, recently announced that Florida's quota in the Crusade will "go over the top" in grand fashion.

Reports from county and city chairmen have been only partial, as yet, but indications show that Florida will more than obtain the quota set by General Lucius Clay, national campaign chairman.

Contributions received from the expected 25,000,000 Americans, stated today that the Crusade will be used to maintain and enlarge upon a network of powerful radio stations in Europe and Asia designed to pierce the Iron Curtain with the truth of Freedom. National headquarters for the Crusade recently announced continuance of the campaign until October 24, the anniversary of the dedication of the Freedom Bell in Germany and the world-wide observance of United Nations Day.

Wildlife Management Areas Throughout The State Closed

Spiking rumors that wildlife management areas throughout the State will be closed to hunting this year, Ben L. McLaughlin, director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, stated today that Florida hunters will have more controlled hunting grounds this season than in the 1950-51 period.

The rumors were started when the Game Commission placed legal advertisements in the newspapers of several counties in which these wildlife management areas are situated. Notices designating certain grounds as wildlife management sections must be published according to Commission rules and regulations.

"It was a false alarm," declared McLaughlin, "for this season's hunters will have a total of 1,700,000 acres of land in which to take part in controlled hunting, and this figure is 770,000 acres more than last year's."

In addition to those open for managed hunting last year, six new areas—Tomoka and Farmington in Volusia County, Indian Trail in Palm Beach County, the wildlife management sections in Osceola and Apalachicola National Forests, and the management grounds in Collier County—will also be available for the state's hunters. Another new area in Hendry County may also be used this year.

"Several other management areas are being closed for a season," added McLaughlin, "but this is being done in order to develop the wildlife resources in those sections for future hunting opportunities."

Sportmen having the special hunting stamps will be permitted to hunt under the supervision of the Game Commission in the above new areas and also the following sections: Gulf Hammock in Levy County, Steinhatchee in Dixie, Lafayette and Taylor Counties, and Avon Park in Highlands County. The quail hunt in Charlotte County may also be held this year. There is a surplus of birds in that area, the Ocala Forest and Eglin Field deer herd will be held as usual.

Three other management areas which will be definitely closed for this season are the Silver Springs area in Osceola County, the Ocala National Forest, and the Eglin Field deer herd.

Registration Still Open At Norton Art School

Enrollment in classes at the Norton School of Art is higher than usual this year, it was reported yesterday by Willis F. Woods, director. Although the School has already been in session for 3 weeks, new students may register for classes at any time.

A night course in life drawing and painting which meets twice a week is conducted by James Mallory Wilson, and Mr. Woods also offers this course 3 mornings a week.

Eric Lundgren teaches oil painting, with the still life class meeting 3 afternoons a week and the landscape class meeting twice weekly. Especially popular is the course in painting for children which Mr. Lundgren instructs 3 afternoons each week. Divided into age groups, children from 6 to 14 are enrolled in this course.

Anyone interested in obtaining further information regarding classes should call Miss Helen Burgess at the School office. An illustrated catalogue of the School is also available. Beginning in December, Joseph Creffitt will conduct classes in sculpture and ceramics, and January Mitchell will teach water color painting. Mr. Woods said.

FARMERS MAY APPLY FOR 1951 CORN LOANS, FMA OFFICIAL SAYS

Florida farmers may now apply for loans on 1951 crop under the recently announced price support program, according to R. S. Dennis, Executive Officer of the Production and Marketing Administration in Florida. The 1951 corn support price for Grade 3 or better, all counties in Florida is $1.75 a bushel.

Loans may be obtained on corn stored in approved warehouses or on the farm, provided the farm storage structure is sound and constructed so it may be fumigated and rodent damage controlled. FMA committees are responsible for approving structures, drawing samples, and closing loans.

Applications for farm storage loans may be filed at any time before March 31, 1952. Applications for loans on corn stored in approved warehouses may be filed at any time before May 31, 1952, and loans mature on July 31, 1952.

Availability of loans provides a method for farmers to effect orderly marketing of corn and also permits them to redeem their loans before maturity to the corn market or to livestock during the spring and summer of next year, Mr. Dennis says.

Warehouses loans may be made only on shell corn, whereas loans on farm-stored corn may be made on either shelled or ear corn.

SELLING FARM SCRAP FOR FINE MANAGEMENT HELPS MOBILIZATION

Rounding up farm scrap and selling it in good farm management as well as helpful in the essential production of new steel, says W. B. Anderson, chairman of the Florida Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

Cash return from selling scrap is better than no return at all when farm machinery or equipment is made. Prices are pages in the magazine, and is illustrated with numerous color photographs, including beautiful shots of the American Bald Eagle, roseate spoonbill, purple gallinule, snowy egret, and Florida crane.

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

To all you World War II veterans who are fortunate enough to still have National Service Life Insurance, I want to urge you to take every precaution necessary to keep your policy in force. If your policy should expire without it being renewed, you can never regain it.

You veterans who mail your National Service Life Insurance premiums to the Veterans Administration are cautioned to remember that although the VA provides the envelope it does not provide the postage stamp.

It has been found that a great many veterans mail their premium remittance envelope for the printed address of the VA office back to the VA without attaching a postage stamp or writing return addresses on them. The frequent result is that the veteran's unstamped envelope, bearing no return address, is delayed or goes astray, and the policy lapses because the premium is not received on time by the VA.

I want to tell you, too, to the fact that the premium remittance envelope sent to veteran policyholders is not of the "prepaid" type, even though, by having the address of the VA office printed on its back, it resembles an envelope must be affixed by the person who mails it.

Also, as a common-sense precaution the sender's return address should always be written on the upper left-hand corner of the envelope, even though there are no lines suggesting this.

Cooperating with the current farm scrap drive has one further benefit for farmers. Sufficient scrap supplies at steel mills help guarantee more adequate production of farm machinery and equipment.

FARM BUREAU PRESIDENT TO SPEAK IN ORLANDO

Quite a few socialistic schemes in Washington have been partially blocked by one man, according to John Ford, Executive Vice-President, Florida Farm Bureau.

"That man is Allan Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau, who will address the Florida Farm Bureau convention, which is being held at the Orange Court Hotel and the Bureau has invited the public to attend."

Mr. Kline's address will take place during the Florida Farm Bureau's 10th annual state convention. It will be held in the assembly room of the Orange Court Hotel and the Bureau has invited the public to attend.

Everglades National Park Featured in Magazine

Everglades National Park, the Nation's newest, third largest, and most unusual public preserve is featured in an article in the November issue of Holiday Magazine.

"In The Water Wilderness," Carl L. Biemiller says the park as an entity is simply a vast mosaic where jungle hammock, saw-grass prairies, swamps, canals and cypress heads blend into a reach of green and brown, lavishly lighted by a blazing, austere personal sun.

There is a mosaic, he adds, of sound and sight comprised of insects humming in high sonic ranges, of raucous bird calls, of alligator hisses, of rattling grasses and rattling palms.

Biemiller finds that in this park, where everything which is wild, runs, crawls and slithers belongs to an earlier earth, man is an alien uncomfortable aware of his strangeness.

There is a considerable doubt, he says, that any tourist will ever see the park as an entity. To nine-tenths of its visitors, most of whom come in winter, the preserve is a single road, Florida Route 27. But no tourist is likely to feel cheated because, as alligator is concerned, the highway is the park.

The author writes that some 475,000 of the total 1,235,500 acres are under water just like the building lots the binder boy sold Uncle Horace from Iowa in 1924, something which helps give the impression that the park cannot make up its geographic mind whether to be land or lake.

the same grade and cut cost $1.15 per pound.

Consumers were urged by the Office of Price Stabilization to check prices of all beef cuts against grade markings and against displayed selling prices. Although most beef retailers are not yet required to post ceiling prices, all are required to display selling prices of all beef cuts and by-products offered for sale, it was pointed out. All beef retailers should have received copies of regulations showing the new retail ceiling prices.

The Philippine Islands are experiencing a steep inflationary upswing of prices not only for food, but also for clothing and other commodities, CARE Mission personnel report from Manila. The contents of a CARE Far East cotton package, which a donor in the U. S. may send for $7 through CARE, would cost $41.20, or $20.00, on the Philippine market.

Farmers who have the "grow-how" credit much of their success to the right combination of chlordanes and fertilizers. For they know that chlordanes when mixed with fertilizer can control the soil borne insects that literally work from the bottom up to destroy profitable crop acreage. When chlordanes is applied properly, it provides your crop with plenty of protection against these ravaging insect pests.

So be sure your insecticide contains chlordanes, the all around insect toxicant.

For further information, see your local dealer or contact your county agent for proper recommendation.

Chlordanes controls household insects, too!
